

Foxes Class Weekly Blog

Week Commencing: 3rd October 2022

Day	What we have done today
Monday	In maths we focused on addition of 3 digit and 1 digit numbers, and exchanging ones and tens. We had a great time in English exploring debate. We began to work on debating the ban of fox hunting, this is related to our story, Stig of the Dump. We split into groups and began to form our debate. In the afternoon, we worked in teams to make our obstacle courses and challenge each other with them.
Tuesday	Today we started by practising filming each other as we practised our debate. We then presented our debates to the rest of the class (our audience). We did a great job, being convincing and persuasive. In maths, we continued with addition and played an exchange game with dice and base ten counters. In RE we worked on The Harvest and Fair Trade and ended the day focusing on numbers in French.
Wednesday	In maths we began to exchange with addition using pictorial representations and in English we listened to part of the story where they make a shack in Stog's den—we then made our own shack's that we will describe on Monday. In the afternoon, we explored the similarities and differences of Stone Age farming and modern farming. We learned lots - one thing being that the Stone Age people started to domesticate animals for farming.
Thursday	Swimming day!! Today, everyone has earned their first swimming certificate for learning new skills or showing us their confidence in these skills! We are very proud. Some of us remained in the classroom to work on our interventions, and then we swapped over. In science, during the afternoon, we worked on evolution and researched about different evolutionists.
Friday	A morning focused on our weekly spelling challenge and showing off our weekly homework (keeping fit and exercising). In the afternoon, we enjoyed choice time and going to spend (or save) our Springfield Pounds.
